

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus for controlling call admission, comprising a call admission check unit which determines whether to admit a call in response to reception of the call based on a threshold that reflect history of base station transmission power.

5